TALKING AND LISTENING - WHAT TO EXPECT AT DIFFERENT AGES

Under 12 months: By 3 months: your baby startles to loud noises; seems to know your voice; seems comforted by your voice when upset / crying; and makes coos, grunt, and gurgles.

By 6 months: your baby turns toward a sound; is interested in sounds, voices, and music; smiles when you smile; and can make sounds like 'mama' and 'gaga'.

Your 1 year old: Turns and looks in the direction of sounds; copies sounds and actions that you make; recognises words for everyday objects like 'cup', 'shoe', and 'car'; says their first words; and can point to people and body parts when prompted.

Your 2 year old: Can use two words together like "More milk" and 'Mommy eat'; says at least 50 words; understands 2-part sentences like "Get your ball and put it in the box"; Starts using plurals ('boats'), 'ing' ('eating'), and possessives ('baby's bottle').

Your 3 year old: Says 3–4 words together, like "I want more milk"; and "Mommy is at work"; Uses more of the little words like 'a', 'is', 'the'; Follows 3 part directions, like "Go to your room, get your socks, and bring them to me"; and can describe feelings and problems, activities, and tell simple stories.

Your 4 year old - Understands more concept words like colours, shapes, locations, texture, and time; uses sentences that are longer and more complete ("I want to go outside and play on the swing").
